Resale Oak Firewood

The Navajo Forestry Department would like to announce the resale of oak firewood on the Navajo Nation is Restricted as of November 12, 2010 until the Spring of May 1011. The oak tree that is found on the Navajo Nation is considered a Deciduous tree, meaning the trees drops its leaves in the fall and remain bare until they grow new leaves in the spring. It is hard for wood cutters to distinguish between the live and dead trees. The Navajo Forestry Department and permitting offices are still issuing Personal-Use Firewood Permits for oak "personal-use only". If you should have any questions concerning the sale of oak firewood, contact the Navajo Forestry Department, Forest Service Section, and Michael Yazzie at (928) 729-4007.

Thank You.
